ANCIENT TIBETAN DREAM WISDOM

A UD approach based on Tarab Tulku Rinpoche's teachings

INTERNATIONAL RETREAT
Teaching in english with translation in french

Mastering dream and imaginary states entail opening to profound intuitive insight. Using the ancient dream methods of Tibet, the dream-state (real or imaginary) provides a great opportunity to directly and radically deal with underlying key problems that otherwise unconsciously rule our lives. Methods for dream recollection and entering the lucid state will be introduced to help heal and transform our inadequate mental structures, as well as teach us to cultivate profound intuitive insight. Mastering these methods gives access to our deep inner strength of being.

This international summer-retreat will be given in Prieuré de Marcevol, near Vinca (South France – Pyrenees orientales). The Prieuré is beautifully situated in the mountains. It is possible to live in the Prieuré, but for those who wish more privacy there are rooms/guest houses available in Marcevol and the surroundings villages.

Tarab Tulku Rinpoché

Tarab Tulku Rinpoche was found to be the 11th. incarnation of the Tibetan Lama Tarab. Tarab Rinpoche obtained a Lharampa Geshe degree / Ph.D. from Drepung Monastic University. Tarab Rinpoche lived in the west for more than 30 years. Rinpoche was, until his retirement 2001, a lecturer at the Copenhagen University and a researcher at the Royal Library of Copenhagen. Tarab Rinpoche took it upon himself to present in a new form the Buddhist Science of Mind and Phenomena in terms of „Unity in Duality“(U.D.) together with U.D. Personal-development and U.D. Art of Relating and Psychotherapeutic Application as well as U.D. Spiritual Application, in order to make the universalities carried by the Tibetan Buddhist Culture available for persons of modern cultures. For this purpose Rinpoche established a formal four-year Unity in Duality Educational Program under the auspices of the Tarab Institutes, first time in Brussels, then Munich and Stockholm, presently in Paris, Hamburg and in 2005 the Unity in Duality Education also started up in India. Before Tarab Rinpoche passed away he entrusted Lene Handberg the responsibility for the continuation of the Unity in Duality Education Program. Rinpoche founded Tarab Institutes in Munich /Hamburg, Copenhagen, Helsinki, Tartu, Stockholm, in Brussels, Paris and London as well as the Tarab Ling Institute in India, Dehradun. A new teaching cycle has started in France in March 2008.

Lene Handberg

Lene Handberg holds a Semrig Thablam Rabjam degree in „Unity in Duality“ (Mastering the Unity in Duality ‘Inner Science’ of Mind and Phenomena, and its Application). Together with Tarab Tulku Rinpoche, she has developed the Unity in Duality Personal Development as well as Art of Relating and Psychotherapeutic Application. Lene Handberg has been assisting Tarab Tulku Rinpoche in teaching Tibetan Science of Mind and Phenomena and Personal Development in the context of the U.D. Education Program for the last 15 years, and she has all along been responsible for the Unity in Duality Psychotherapeutic Application. Lene Handberg has been giving workshops in Europe for the last 17 years, in Australia as well as in the U.S. She has worked with Ronald Laing on re-birthing, and with Analytical as well as Bio-energetic psychotherapy. Before Rinpoche passed away, September 2004, Tarab Rinpoche entrusted Lene Handberg the responsibility for continuing the Unity in Duality Education in Europe as well as in India. She is at present also the President of the Tarab Institute Denmark.

Unity in Duality (U.D.)

“It is my great wish that “Unity in Duality - Tendrel” in the interplay with modern scientific research will reveal its deep-reaching insights into creating inner and outer harmony”.
Tarab Tulku Rinpoche

The view that everything that arises is mutually interconnected; in Tibetan called „Tendrel“, can be considered Buddhist philosophy’s quintessential contribution to the world. This view is rooted in 5th century B.C. India.

In the 8th century A.C. the Tendrel-view together with other facets of Buddhism was introduced to Tibet, where it became the basis of an extraordinary scientific and method-oriented tradition that is known today as Tibetan Buddhism.

Tarab Tulku Rinpoche, one of the most renowned Tibetan scholars of our time, has been living in the West for over 30 years. It was here that he came to express his deep understanding of Tendrel in the paradigm of three pairs of interrelated opposites Subject - Object, Mind - Body and Energy - Matter that are joining in unity. To render these interdependent relationships comprehensible and to facilitate their deep understanding is the heart of Rinpoche’s integral approach.

Tarab Rinpoche gained this paradigm by elaborating the essential aspects from the traditional Buddhist „inner science of mind and phenomena“, as taught in the Sutras and Tantras, concentrating them in five disciplines as „Unity in Duality“: Science of Mind and Phenomena, Personal Development, Art of Relating and Psychotherapeutic Application as well as Spiritual Application.

In this way the old knowledge, founded on the Tendrel-view, was established in present time as an accessible and practice-oriented system.

Unity in Duality especially aims to contribute to the solution of mental problems, as they increasingly arise under the conditions of a highly technical and rational culture that is prevailing today in many parts of the world. Effective methods are introduced for the creation of inner and outer harmony, mainly through practical application in the fields of human relations and communication, education and mental health
